Before the Vikings

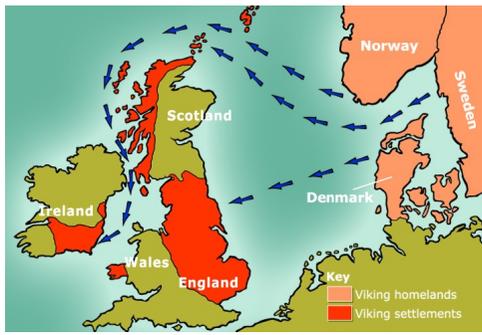

The Anglo-Saxons were a group of farmer-warriors who lived in Britain. Made up of three tribes who came over from Europe, they were called the Angle, Saxon and Jute tribes. The two largest were the Angles and Saxons which is why we call it the Anglo-Saxon period. They conquered the Romanised Britons who came before them.

Danelaw

Vikings were largely from Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Over a period of around 100 years the Vikings invaded large parts of northern England but there were large areas in the south (Wessex) that they never managed to invade. By 884AD an agreement was signed so that the Vikings could rule over "Danelaw" in the north of England.

The Invasion Journey

To make the journey from Denmark, Norway and Sweden, the Vikings had to make a treacherous journey across the North Sea.

They were expert boat builders. We know what their boats looked like from examples that archaeologists have discovered.

A Reason to Invade

Farming was tough for the Vikings. The northern part of Scandinavia was full of mountains. The soil along the coastline was sandy. It was difficult to grow crops. As the population grew they could not grow enough food for everyone.

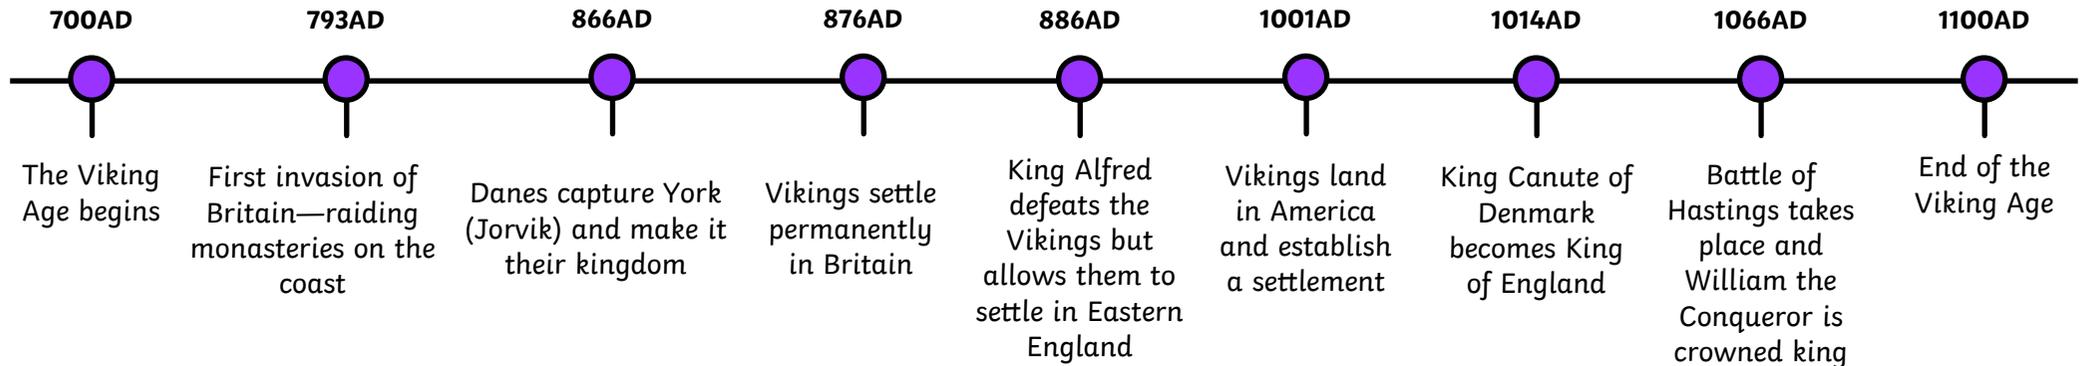

Around 750AD, some Viking started to explore other places to live and began to settle in Britain where the Anglo-Saxons lived.

History

Viking Language

The Viking alphabet looks very different to ours. The Vikings used symbols

	f	u	th	a	r	k	g	w
	h	n	i	j	ae	p	z	s
	t	b	e	m	l	ng	d	o

called runes. These symbols are made using straight lines because they are easier to carve into wood and stone. Each symbol represents a different sound.

The English language has lots of evidence of the Viking invasion of Britain. This is especially the case with lots of place names of many towns and villages in the north of England.

The Vikings were also the first group to ever form a parliament—the Tynwald on the Isle of Man.

Extending your learning

5 things you could do at home to extend your learning:

1. Visit the Jorvik Centre in York or the Sutton Hoo site in Suffolk.
2. See what artefacts you can discover in the Viking and Anglo-Saxon areas of the British Museum.
3. Research Viking shields or jewellery and try to design your own shield or piece of jewellery in the same style.
4. Viking myth to your family.
5. See if you can find the names of some English towns that come from the Viking language.
